

SPEAKER · SALT LAKE CITY, UTAH

Esther Jackson-Stowell

CEO of Ekot Group. Host of The Broker's Table.

Esther is a Nigerian-born, Utah-based real estate investor, property management leader and CEO of Ekot Group, a woman-owned holding company. She built Wasatch Cleaners to run like a tech company and turned the systems behind her businesses into software, including the Akovex operations platform. A wife, mother, military spouse and foster parent, she speaks on building in overlooked industries, women in business, and faith, family and ambition at one table.

SIGNATURE TALKS

Overlooked & Underestimated

Why the everyday businesses nobody dreams about, from cleaning to property management, quietly build wealth and jobs, and reward good systems.

Investing With Intention

How everyday investors build durable rental wealth: buying, financing, managing and scaling with systems, from sixteen years in the business.

Systems, Not Heroics

Plain-language AI and automation for local owners: how a home-services company books, schedules and follows up on its own.

Faith, Family and Ambition at One Table

A Nigerian-born founder and foster parent on leading from conviction and building something that outlasts you.

ON THE RECORD

Since 2010

Real estate and property management in Utah and California

Women to Watch

Utah Business, 2026

Women of Impact

IMPACT Magazine, 2025

Public service

Former chair, Salt Lake City Human Rights Commission. MPA.

Contributing author

The Not-So-Secret Lives of Real Mormon Wives, Cedar Fort

FORMATS

Keynotes 30 to 60 min. Workshops 60 to 90 min. Luncheons, panels, moderation, fireside chats. In person across Utah and beyond, or virtual.

NOV 3, 2026 — RISE 2026, Utah Valley University. Breakout session: Overlooked and Underestimated, building woman-owned companies with AI in the industries nobody wants.

Book Esther

contact@thebrokerstable.com

Talks tailored to your audience and time slot.

WATCH REEL

PRESS ROOM

The Broker's Table
thebrokerstable.com/press